

WILD With Eczema

I was a sufferer for eight years from Eczema, but have an entirely cured. The itching and burning were so severe and badly inflamed, little white blisters appeared, they would peel off, leaving a red, smart surface, which would burn like fire and itch. On the inside of the upper part of my limbs, smooth red blotches would appear, and as soon as I became warm, the burning and itching would heighten. Night after night, the itching would be so severe, and almost go wild. I got a box of CUTICURA, and a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and after a few applications, I noticed the redness and inflammation disappearing. Before I had used one box I was able to get a box of CUTICURA. I can truthfully assert that $2.00 worth of CUTICURA REMEDY cured me.

MARCHING ON DONGOLA.

The Derivishes Are Gathering in Force to Meet the Troops.

RAPID ADVANCE UP THE NILE.

After Months of Struggling with Terrific Heat the Expedition is Now in Full Swing—The Troops Full of Enthusiasm. Gunboats to Take Part.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 12.—The reports received from Koshoh yesterday chronicle the arrival there by train of the remainder of the Staffordshire regiment, the first detachment of which arrived Thursday. The sirdar, Sir Herbert Kitchener, and his staff will start from Koshoh today, and a portion of the Staffordshire regiment accompanying him.

The news received at Koshoh from the front is that the derwish outpost at Kermah, just above the third cataract of the Nile, is being reinforced by their mounted troops, while the region being the Egyptian and derwish outposts is fast becoming desolated. It is expected that the derwish will attempt to make a stand at Kermah, and the first fighting of the advance to Dongola is looked for at that point. A rapid advance to Dongola is now believed to be in order with a view to striking a prompt and effective blow to the power of the khalfah.

The Third brigade has reached Ahsarrat safely, and the main body of cavalry is arriving there. The cavalry and scouts report the derwishes still in view south of Donglo, but the enemy retreats at the slightest sign of a forward movement. The Anglo-Egyptian scouts, feeling the way for the advance guard, are steadily pushing on to Kasbar, fourteen miles further south, which will be the next place occupied. The troops, black and white, are full of enthusiasm and anxious for a clash with the enemy. The weather is hot in the extreme, but the soldiers are benefiting from being on the move. All the troops taking part in the expedition are now on the march towards Dongola.

The intelligence department reports the derwishes gathering in force north of Dongola. Clashes between the derwishes and the Anglo-Egyptian scouts are expected at any moment. Thus the advance of the British-Egyptian expedition up the River Nile, with Dongola, if not Khartoum, as its objective point, is now in full swing, after months of struggling with terrific heat and cholera.

The operations began in March last, when troops were hurried up the Nile to Wady-Halfa, the southernmost post, although the railroad ran to Sarrah, about forty miles south of Wady-Halfa. Since that time the railroad, a direct campaign line, has been extended to Akashah, fifty miles from the latter place to Koshoh, and thence to Ahsarrat, about seventy-five miles.

It is looked upon as more than probable that the gunboats will play a very important part in the campaign. They are from 100 to 175 feet long, have 20 to 27 feet beam, draw only about two feet of water when fully loaded, are able to make about fourteen miles an hour, carrying a large number of men, and tow barges, etc., carrying many tons of stores.

Each gunboat carries a 12-pounder quick-firing maxim gun, able to discharge a shot every three seconds, mounted forward on an armored citadel deck. Amidships there is a conning tower and an electric searchlight, another lighter maxim from search to twenty feet above the water line, and the armament of these deadly boats is completed with two quick-firing 6-pounders and six to eight more maxims. Besides these guns some of the larger gunboats carry 21-pounders, capable of delivering very effective fire at long range.

THE TURKISH SITUATION

Sir Henry Asquith Urges Decided Action by Great Britain.

SALARIES OF OFFICIALS UNPAID.

Continuation of Armenian Uprisings Almost a Certainty—The Inquiry Commission Composed of Corrupt Palace Officials—The Porte Warns Travelers.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Mr. Henry Asquith, formerly secretary of state for the home department, has addressed the following message to The Chronicle:

"I shall shortly address my constituents when I shall express my views at length, but I am in the entire accord with the conviction that the time has come when Great Britain should refuse to hold further terms with a government which has become a mere instrument for executing the purposes of a will, either criminal or insane. The European powers, by whose favor the sultan holds his throne, cannot condone his past crimes or ignore his future dangers without sharing the guilt of the one and becoming directly responsible for the other. I hope we shall witness such a manifestation of opinion here as will save Great Britain from any such complicity and will give strength and authority to decided action on the part of our government.

The Chronicle in an editorial applauds Mr. Asquith's strong message as in every way responsible. Mr. Gladstone, in another letter, on the subject declares: "The use which the six powers have made of remonstrance in the past year has not been a mere failure or a mockery, but a great instrument of mischief, because it was implied that such a matter can be disposed of by discussion, and has thereby supplied wholesale and deliberate murder with the only assistance it wanted, namely, the assurance of impunity. In my judgment even silence would be preferable to such discussion."

The Daily News, Liberal commenting editorially upon Mr. Gladstone's letter, says: "The first necessity of European peace is the deposition of the sultan."

The Chronicle and The Daily News and other newspapers have such headings over the articles on this subject as "A Nation Aroused," etc.

A dispatch from Constantinople to The Daily News says: "An official communication to the newspapers has caused a sensation. It contemplates the certainty of Armenian uprising in the provinces, but holds all officials responsible if matters develop into massacres, pillage or destruction of property. At the same time, the soldiers are authorized to use their arms in self defense against all who attack them. This is the first time that an official communication has mentioned the massacres and pillage. Turkish placards in Stamboul call upon the government to pay the salaries of officials or otherwise they threaten to help themselves."

Fifteen army officers, who want to the war office to claim their arrears of pay were informed that there were no funds with which to pay them. The officers thereupon resigned their commissions and were promptly arrested for so doing.

A dispatch to The Graphic from Odessa declares that among the judge appointed on the special tribunal at Constantinople to try the cases arising from the Armenian massacre there is not a single honest and upright man, all being notoriously corrupt and servile palace tools.

GERMANY TAKES A HAND

The German Consul Not Disposed to Surrender the Empire.

ZANZIBAR, Sept. 12.

The better is previous here that Germany does not intend to acquiesce in the action taken by the British government in appointing Raymond H. Mohamoud Bin Said sultan of Zanzibar.

Said Khalid, the alleged sultan, has issued the German consul a warning that the fall of the place on Aug. 25, and in spite of the request of the British consul for his surrender, there has been no change in position maintained on the part of the German officials to give him up.

Rumors are now in circulation here that it is the intention of the German authorities to re-appoint Said Khalid on the throne from which he was deposed by force of British arms. These rumors have caused great uneasiness here. There is a feeling that Germany is not acting in a friendly spirit, and is seeking to make an issue with Great Britain.

Paris, Sept. 12.—A dispatch received from Aden says that the port officials there have received information that two German vessels loaded with arms for Zanzibar have entered the Red sea and that strict instructions on the subject have been added to the officials referred to.
